STATES OF TRANSITION

BSMT, in collaboration with Saatchi Gallery presents 'States of Transition', a new solo show by Perspicere which continues his meticulous exploration of the human condition through thread.

Each piece is built by wrapping thread around nails, layer upon layer, colour upon colour, until a photorealistic portrait emerges from thousands of intersecting lines. What first appears as an image gradually reveals itself as a delicate system of tension, accumulation, and restraint, where every line depends on another to hold the whole in balance.

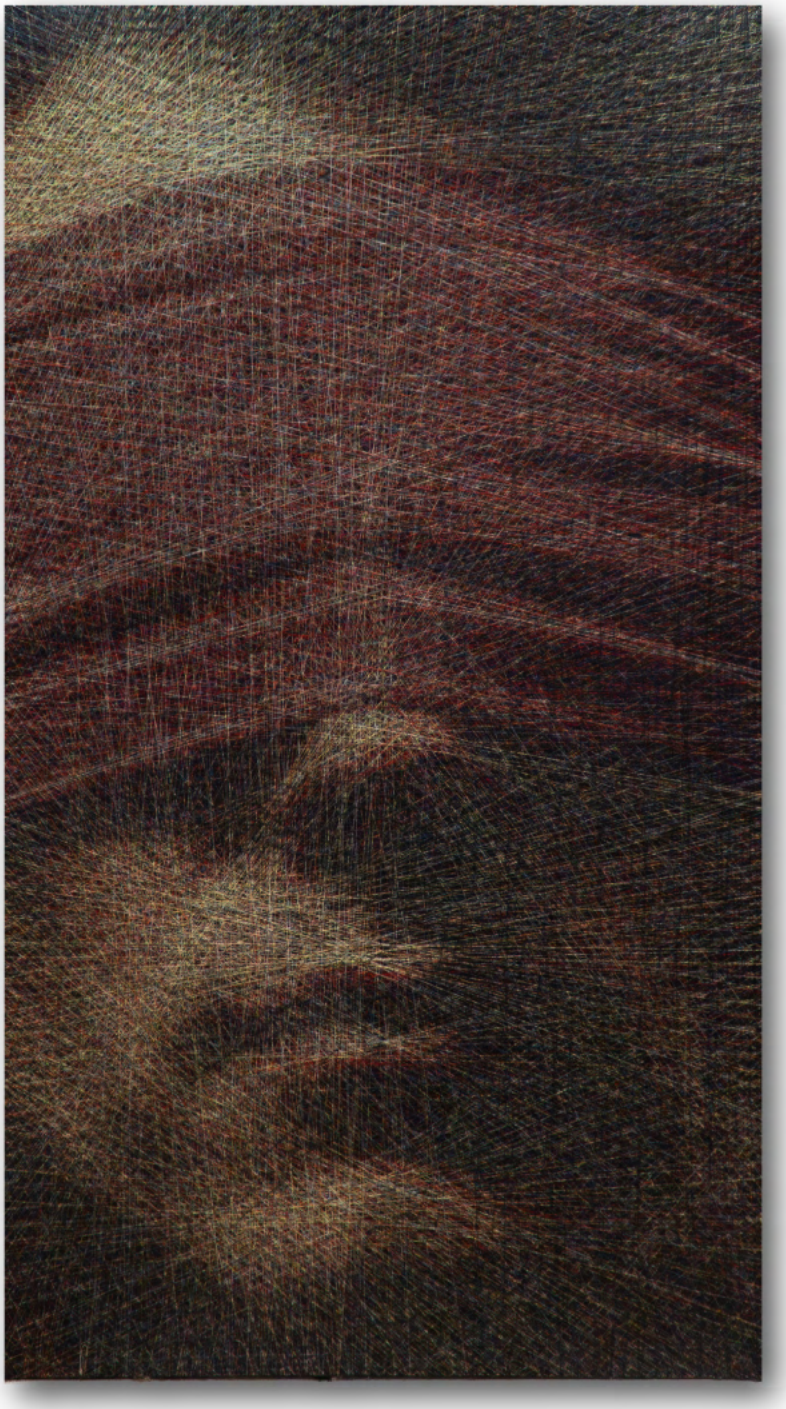

Perspicere - Latin for “to see through” - scrutinises the very act of seeing clearly. Veil-like forms and shifting surfaces complicate the act of looking, while the work itself changes depending on distance, reminding us that perception is fluid, unstable, and unreliable. This new series turns toward the uncertain space between one state of being and another: between presence and absence, visibility and concealment, clarity and dissolution.

In States of Transition, the portrait becomes less a fixed likeness than a site of transformation. Faces appear to surface, recede, fracture, and reform, caught in moments of psychological and emotional flux. The works ask us to consider how identity is constructed, obscured, and re-seen over time, and how much of what we understand depends on the position from which we look.
